

Would you like to have a say about the NDIS?

The National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) is a new way of providing care and support for people with disability in Australia.

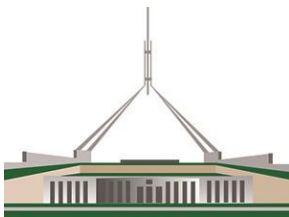

We want to find out how the NDIS is going. We are asking people to tell us what they think about the NDIS.

Who is doing the research?

The National Institute of Labour Studies at Flinders University is leading a team to do the research.

We are doing this research for the Australian Government.

Who are we looking for?

We would like to speak with people who are in the NDIS.

We would also like to speak to your family member or carer.

What would I have to do?

We would like to speak with you twice - once in 2014 and again in 2015.

The interview will take about 60 minutes.

You can choose the place and time of your interview.

We will give you $50 for taking part in the interview in 2014 and another $50 for taking part in the interview in 2015.

Do I have to do the interview?

No, you don't have to do the interview if you don't want to.

If you start the interview and decide that you want to stop, that's OK.

It's also OK if you don't want to answer any of the questions.

Would you like to take part?

If you would like to take part please call us by the 25 August 2014.

Our phone number is 1800 265 648.
